Banyan Edition Of Y News To Replace Yearbook

Although priorities on material have made impractical the publication of the Banyan, school year book of past years, students will be able to obtain a souvenir of school life when the Banyan Edition of the Y NEWS rolls off the presses next spring. Mr. J. Benben Clark, III, chairman of the publications committee, announced this week.

Will Picture Activities

The Banyan Edition of the Y NEWS will contain photographs of student activities, organizations, faculty members, seniors, and campus scenes, but it will not be as large or as inclusive as the school yearbooks have been in the past. Mr. Clark explained.

Work on the book has already begun, under the direction of the staff of the Y NEWS.

Jean Bickmore, editor of the Y NEWS will also edit the special Banyan Edition. Ruth Englund, an associate editor of the Banyan Edition of the Y NEWS, will be in charge of the production of the book.

Business Manager

Howard Henniger, business manager of the Y NEWS, will be business manager of the Banyan Edition, and George Andrews, who has done photographic work on the BYU Banyans of past years, will be in charge of photography.

Art, circulation, copy, and photographic staffs have not been appointed as yet.

Students who have had any yearbook experience or who wish to be in the production of the Banyan Edition of the Y NEWS are urged to contact Associate Editor Ruth Englund as soon as possible.

Students who have had experience with a new camera or who can do darkroom work are especially urged to contact Jean Bickmore or Ruth Englund at once.

New Cafeteria Fills Need On Campus

Miss Beulah Rickley, director of the lower campus cafeteria, reports that a great number of the civilian students on the campus are dining at the cafeteria on the lower campus daily since the beautiful upper campus cafeteria has been turned over for cadet use.

The lower campus cafeteria is filling a vital role on the university campus by serving so many civilian students, according to Miss Rickley.

Personnel of the department follows: Miss Effie Warnick, chairman; Irene Pardoe, Miss Ma Billings, and Miss Dortha Reid.

Coeds Will Name Two Preferred Men in Elections

Despite all the talk about a man shortage, this will be the first year in history that there have been two preferred men. That will be just the situation, for Y coeds have been balloting this week for the most preferred civilian and the most preferred cadet. The two preferred men will reign jointly over the preference ball, Saturday, December 18.

The shortage of men did not stop many coeds who took full advantage of the date bureau on the campus. At the booths in the library and education building, members of the committee helped to arrange dates the first three days of this week. Girls who preferred to make their own dates reported them to the bureau. Invitations will be sent out to both the fellows and girls from the committee.

December 18 will be the date of the ball—with a surprise theme.

Family Portrait Is Slated Here

Despite the loss of several persons who were included in last year's play cast, Brigham Young university will again present "Family Portrait," the Yuletide drama that has become almost a tradition at the school. The play will be produced at College Hall on Thursday and Friday, December 15 and 16, for the fifth consecutive year.

"Family Portrait" is the story of the family of Jesus, written by Leonard Coffee and William J. Leavenworth.

Because it has been so successful in past years, and because so many people have requested it, De Pardoe and the faculty have decided to make it the leading attraction of the BYU holiday season. Manager Marjorie Vockles announced today that tickets will go on sale Wednesday, December 15 in the Y Press which is located in the Mavor building. The price will be ten cents for students and fifteen cents for others.

Mr. Katherine B. Pardoe will star as Mary, mother of Jesus, as she has done the last four years. Many other experienced players will also play in parts which they have done before.

Noted News Analyst Will Lecture At BYU Assembly on December 13

Howard Pierce Davis, observer and analyst of world affairs, will lecture Tuesday, December 12, at 11:00 P.M. in the Joseph Smith Hall.

Mr. Davis has traveled extensively throughout Europe and has been an eye witness to the successive excursions by which nations have expanded before the coming of the day. He has coined the streets of Vienna, France, Warsaw, and Paris, and has seen the ruins pile up on the sands as world conditions open one more tragic line.

He has seen the effects of the war on the people who were making history, traced the causes that have led up to the present situation. During his career Mr. Davis has written editorially and radio broadcasts, and wrote extensively for the press. He has brought in contact with news, thinking groups in the country. He is a man of deep perspective and one who enjoys the reputation of knowing what he wants to say and how to say it. In his lecture, Tuesday, Mr. Davis will present some of his

Yone Hall Opens In January

Housing for thirty-five or more girls will be available in Yone Hall, new co-operative dormitory operated by the BYU. It will be ready for occupancy before the beginning of winter quarter on January 4.

Providing complete living accommodations, including kitchen and laundry facilities, this new dormitory will fill a vital need on the campus. It is hoped that Yone Hall will prove as successful as the co-operative dormitory established a year ago.

This hall was named in honor of the youngest daughter of Jess Knight, known as one of Brigham Young university's staunchest supporters during his lifetime.

All living-quarters in the new dorm have not yet been assigned. Girls interested in obtaining accommodations there should contact Miss Warnick or any member of the student accommodations committee at once.

BYU Will Enter Coast Contest

An unusual opportunity for students interested in inter-American affairs, and in public speaking is the Inter-American discussion group, forming in universities throughout the country. Brigham Young university has entered, and if student interest justifies it, a representative of this university will be sent to the regional contest at Stanford university. The regional

Former Frosh Chairman Wins Hard-Fought Battle For Class Presidency

Hales, Todd, and Wilson Elected To Lead The Freshman Class

Rings of freshman class government for the current school year will be in the hands of Richard Hales, president; Elaine Todd, vice-president, and Margaret Wilson, secretary, winners in the frosh election.

The contest, held last week, was characterized by extremely close voting, especially in the race for vice president, with Miss Todd barely nosing out Patricia Hatch, of Provo. Hales and Miss Wilson defeated Sterling Sessions, Provo, and Mary Smart, of Portland, Oregon, in a slip-and-tuck battle.

Was Class Chairman

Richard Hales, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wayne E. Hales of Provo, was earlier in the season chosen temporary chairman of the freshman class. He had been elected from BY Hall, where he was prominent in sports. He is a member of the Cougar basketball squad.

Miss Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Todd of Cody, Wyoming, is a second quarter freshman. Affiliated with the Val Non social unit, she served on the freshman class committee during the quarter.

A graduate of Ogden high school where she edited the yearbook, Miss Wilson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David J. Wilson, of Ogden.

Holiday Concert Set for Sunday

The Brigham Young university mixed chorus and ladies glee club, under the direction of Dr. Florence Jepperson Madson, will present a Christmas concert Sunday, December 12, at 8:00 p.m. in the new tabernacle.

The concert will be assisted by J. Keeler, organist; Barbara Ramussen and Felice Karchner, pianists; Katherine Moorell, Nola Stubbins and Max Sney violinsts.

This traditional event features several numbers from Handel's oratorio "The Messiah." Appearing as soloists will be Arlie Ball, Nathalie King Bowers, Dorothy Gilchrist, Anna Jean Bullock, Elizabeth Zinkel, Alene Peterson, and Elmo Coffman.

A highlight of the evening will be the spiritual reading of Mrs. Katherine Pardoe. Admission to the concert is complimentary. The public is invited to attend. The program has been scheduled at an hour when it will not interfere with Sunday evening services.

Merle Johnson Wins Contest

"Have you a goal and a guide?" This question was asked by Merle Johnson, 24, Audubon, Idaho, in her prize winning oration in the Fieber Jr. Grant Oratorical contest held Thursday, Dec. 2 in assembly.

Miss Johnson went on to say that "each one of us in the short time we spend upon the earth is a musician to fulfill to attain the goal." The pointers in their struggles across the plains did not grope for because they were following a wonderful guide. "Our leaders follow the footprints of Christ who lead us to our goal. Let us—how magnificent it can be with Him to lead the way."

Miss Johnson's oration was designated as one of the most inspired and eloquent heard there. The Helen J. Grant Oratorical contest was won by Merle Johnson, 24, Audubon, Idaho. President Hilary J. Grant to encourage student writing and thinking in oratory, has set up a contest, a two of the spiritual. It is one of the oldest contests on the BYU campus and has been held annually for 23 years.

Pardoe Announces Rotary Contest

Announcement is made by T. Earl Pardoe, faculty chairman of the awards committee, of the annual Rotary Oratorical contest. The contest has been set for the third week in January, and any student of the University is eligible to enter.

The subject of the two minute oration is to be on any phase of international peace. The students' own ideas on the subject are urged, so that a viewpoint of the young people on present problems may be seen.

The contest is a traditional one in the school and the Rotary award is given to the winner.

All winners will be given a summer trip to Mexico.

Dr. T. Earl Pardoe, faculty chairman, points out that any student can qualify, and can become an author on the subject. First orations on the campus will be held during the second week in January. This gives ample time for study between classes.

Last year Merle Johnson was a winner and participated in the second contest at Denver.

The Popular Arts . . .

Fine Arts Group Schedules Monday Program

The fine arts department announces that their quarterly program is underway and will be presented Monday, December 13, at seven o'clock in the Smith building, banquet hall. This semi-formal affair is open to all students registered in any of the art departments.

Peggy Hagan, student chairman of the art department, reports that some of the better work of the art students will be on display, with demonstrations of painting to be given also by them. A talk will be given on "Alumni who have made good in the art field."

The music department, represented by Catherine Morrell, has a cultural program scheduled, with woodwind and string ensembles to furnish their part of the program.

Elaine Peterson and Theda Henke have charge of the dramatic arts contribution to the program, which will be an extremely interesting climax to the evening's entertainment. Vigorous and of the right periods of drama will be included with excerpts from plays of each period given.

This type of program combining the three arts departments will be held each quarter under student direction and student presentation. The affair will be semi-formal.

Drama:

Mask Club

"The Salvage Mongers" and "More to Be Pined Than Scorned," two one act plays, were presented for Mask club members and their guests, Monday evening, November 8.

Theda Henke directed the comedy, "The Salvage Mongers." The cast included: Margaret Jean Callmore, Margaret Fridy, Elaine Peterson, Patsy Hunter, and Virginia Lindemeyer. The old fashioned melodrama, "More to Be Pined Than Scorned," directed by Valma Jones, was performed by Dwayne Nelson, Sheldon Lowery, Bernice Chader, Kathleen Byrd, Joan Rees, and Merle Johnson.

Theta Alpha Phi

Final initiation rites were presented to eight new pledges last Friday evening when the group took the vows of fidelity to Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity. Guiding the ceremonies were Mrs. Kathryn B. Pardoe and Sanford Bingham, Initiator.

Carol is from Salt Lake City. She is in her junior year and will major in art. She worked, last summer, in the Walt Disney Studios.

Paul Wittgenstein left handed pianist played a concert of great interest Wednesday, December 8 in the Provo tabernacle. His mastery of the piano, in spite of his handicap, was unusual.

He performed works by Bach, Schumann, Chopin, Mendelssohn, and Liszt in which he displayed a rare technical facility.

During the intermission, Mr. Wittgenstein talked briefly on the art of one hand piano playing and the difficulties, other than physical, involved in his career, mainly that of finding a sufficient amount of good literature for left hand alone.

Initiation chairman was Theda Henke and she was assisted by Ruth Englund, Elaine Peterson, Dorena Paxman, Beth Lund.

Newly elected officers of the organization are Dan Keeler, president; Joy Swaberg, vice president; Theda Henke, secretary; and Ralph Ungermann, faculty adviser.

Music:

State Symphony Plays at BYU

The Utah State Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Sergeant Hans Henrich played a concert to a packed house Tuesday evening, December 7, in the Joseph Smith auditorium. The concert was given through the sponsorship of the American Federation of Musicians, James C. Perillo, president, and the Provo appearance was made possible largely through the efforts of Dean Herald R. Clark and Professor LeRoy J. Robertson.

During the concert the audience was very responsive, and its enthusiasm for the orchestra's playfulness was quite apparent by its instantaneous applause. The acoustics of the Joseph Smith auditorium are excellent for such concerts as this one.

The Provo concert was one of several which are being given throughout the country by major orchestras at the request of the President of the United States as part of the war effort to build up the morale of the country.

Scribe Tells of Struggle for Existence in Dorm Life Sketch

By June West

This theme and variations could come under several headings, namely: never mind if May's out there plenty more where she came from; or, don't turn around without serving notice June, you knocked three of my teeth out last time; or, please check your bags in the storage room, you look terrible under your eyes.

Maybe you don't believe this. Maybe you think I lie. But follow along with a Knight Hall sal.

And see the same as I. The day begins for Knight Hall Sal when the 6:30 buzzers ring. Awakening from a beautiful dream of formals and such archaic things, she sees the smoke lifting from the valley and another wonderful day has begun so Sal rolls over and goes back to sleep.

Usually Sal sleeps until 7:30, but this morning is her lucky morning. Workshift and breakfast dishes! At three minutes to seven Sal rolls from the bunk, dresses and falls down to breakfast. (Breakfast is so discouraging, even your best friends don't recognize you.)

With her little chore completed, Sal rushes madly up to her room, hoping against hope that her three loving roommates will be brought with the mirror. Alas, her hopes are hopeless, so she struggles to apply her camouflage in the upper left hand corner of the mirror. How nice it would be to wear pressed clothes again, but no press cloth at Knight Hall is unheard of. One must get up at 6:00 and stand in line to carry on such activities.

Sal drags her sweater and skirt from the heap in the closet, segregates her shoes from the others that are piled under the desk and grabbing someone's shorthand book, and at 8:56, makes for the third floor of the Brimhall building.

And then there is the line for food. There are two alternatives one can take. (1) To be at the line and end up with a black eye, a broken toe, a bruise in line and end up with a whole anatomy, no cups, no brushes and food. Need we say more about lunch.

Contrary to popular belief, it isn't the cadets, privates or Ralph Frogley who are the most popular men at Knight Hall. It is the usually awaited mailman. He brings more joy and sorrow to more girls than even Frank Sinatra.

The mailman is thinking of taking a football after the war, because of the experience he is getting in holding up against take. We think he should be awarded the purple heart or something.

As it comes to every Knight Hall girl, it comes to Sal. Upon looking into her closet, she discovers there are no more clean clothes, and to make the situation even more discouraging neither have her roommates. After her five o'clock class we find Sal doing some sort of a ballet in her closet, trying to keep the sweats, towels, sweaters and hats from falling from the top shelves while she hunts for her laundry bag. Sal tries desperately to shut the door again, and feels she has accomplished a great task when she gets it six inches from the closing point. Then to the laundry room, with the usual line of five waiting to use the washer.

As her last pinks and purples are hung on the line, the heat of the sun surges through her. Food! If you have wondered why Knight Hall girls are howled, drop in to dinner some time and see them tottering under the weight of trays loaded with food. The problem of getting the food to the table is only secondary to that of getting it into the mouth. There are always those Buxum Besies who insist

Comment . . .

By Cadet Second Lieutenant John L. Benton

Most amazing, but confounding, this is about Section 8.

In military hospitals, it is in Ward 8 that the gaga boys cut out paper dolls and play Napoleon but they haven't anything on this section 8, Nuff said.

Latest reports show that "Pistol Puckin' Mann" is losing ground as Section 8's favorite song. "My gal's a Kappa. She Chews Tobacco," is coming up, as well as "Gee, I'm Great to have a Gal that's Big and Fat." Lyrics available upon request, also others we know.

Happily, I have for some time recently, when a new member was added, for Duane "Hap" Springer, henceforth to be known as "Pops," became a proud and blushing papa. Section 8 rejoiced, made the baby an honorary member, then it was a War Bond, and devoted two study periods to thinking up a name. The results finally were "Elmer." His name is now Jerry.

Along with the Roosevelt boom in Washington, Section 8 is reported looking for a fourth term here in Provo. Shipping out for advanced training is a prospect that

Lambda Delta Sigma Ushers in Holiday Season With Dance

In keeping with the Yuletide spirit, members of Lambda Delta Sigma have revealed plans for the annual Christmas semi-formal dance scheduled for Saturday, December 11 in the Joseph Smith ballroom. The theme will center around the holiday season, but exact details of decorations will be kept a secret until the guests arrive. Music will be furnished by Rulon Tassumussen and his orchestra.

Committee

Roma Jean Turner and Phil Robinson are directing arrangements, and they are assisted by the following committees: Beverly Baa, refreshments; Robert Marshall, Lois Wolf, Helen Martin, decorations; Amy Cardon, program and floor show.

Patrons

Patrons for the evening will include Dr. Lowell Benison, national Lambda Delta Sigma president; Dr. and Mrs. Wilford Woolf, Dean and Mrs. Wesley P. Albee, and Dr. and Mrs. Milton Marshall. All members of the fraternity on the campus will be invited, as will other guests from the USAC and the University of Utah have been invited.

Vali Nori

Brides-to-be have been claiming the attention of the Vali Nori for the last week. Pat Brockbank, who is leaving soon for the east to join her fiancé, Paul Fillmore, was honored with the club bride song and sweetheart song last Thursday evening at the home of Margaret and Isabel Hales. During the evening business meeting, plans for winter quarter rushing were discussed.

On Saturday evening, December 11, the Vali Nori will sing the bride and sweetheart songs at the wedding ceremony of Elaine Clark and George Robinson. A combined business meeting and Christmas party, featuring the exchange of gifts, will be held on December 16 at "Welcome Inn" with Chas. Watts, Miriam Young, Elaine Graw, and Arlene Andrews acting as hostesses.

Students Reveal Marriage Plans

In the beautiful solemnity of Christmas Eve, Miss Beth Lund, popular Y student will become the bride of Bill McNulty, formerly of Salt Lake City and now of Ellington Field, Texas.

Twice-elected, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lund of Mt. Pleasant, is a senior this year and is affiliated with Theta Alpha Phi, national drama fraternity, and White Key. She is a past president of Lambda Delta Sigma and also a past secretary of that organization. During her years here, she has been outstanding in dramatic circles on the campus.

Cadet McNulty is a graduate of the University of Utah, where he was affiliated with Phi Sigma fraternity.

Miss Lund, accompanied by her mother and the groom's mother, will leave on Dec. 17 for Houston, Texas, where the marriage will take place.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Helen Hatch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Hatch of Aurora, Utah to Richard F. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Cole, of Burlington, Vermont. The young couple will be united in marriage at a lovely ceremony at the home of the bride on Saturday, December 11.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper and dance for the bride and groom and immediate family members will be in attendance, after which the young couple.

The bride-elect, a student of the BYU, plans to continue her studies here for the present time.

Lambda Delta Sigma

Vivienne Noble of Smithfield, Utah, was selected as "member of the month" at a recent business and cultural meeting held by Lambda Delta Sigma fraternity on the campus. The meeting featured an illustrated lecture on the development of architecture in Utah presented by Mr. Fred Markham, Provo city architect.

Lambda Delta Sigma will hold its monthly Sunday night meeting on December 12 at 8 o'clock in the Joseph Smith assembly hall. The program will be built around a Christmas theme with various plays being presented by the different chapters. The program will be divided into the four phases of Lambda Delta Sigma: cultural, religious, social, and intellectual. Lambda Delta Sigma members and pledges are invited.

Gamma Phi Omicron

On Friday, December 2, Gamma Phi Omicron held final initiation ceremonies for the following new members: Ruth Wilson, Helen Martin, Helen Shiratori, Marian Westwood, Lillian Christensen, Orpha Moore, Margie Johnson, Ruth Klingler, Jacqueline Luginbill, and Jean Cox. The ceremony in which the girls became official members of the club was held in the ballroom of the Joseph Smith Building.

Later the girls were entertained at the home of their sponsor, Miss May Billings, where a delicious luncheon was served.

Nautilus

Jackie Senior was chairman of the Nautilus alumni breakfast held Sunday morning at the Valley Tavern in Springville. Four tables were attractively decorated with garlands, centerpieces, and each placecard was tied with blue and white ribbons to a galleon.

Y Basketball Team Heads East After Downing Alumni Squad In Practice Game on Saturday

After tucking away their second victory of the season in a hard-fought practice game with the alumni five on Saturday, ten of Coach Floyd Millet's leading hoop proteges boarded the train Tuesday evening for the East, where they will meet some of the East's leading basketball teams.

Cadet Sports:

Hoop Squad from Section Seven Leads in League

The point-happy cage squad from Section Seven took over undisputed leadership in BYU's AST Unit basketball league in one of last Saturday's games by dumping their last, but important, Section Three quint by the impetuous count of 20-0, while Section Four dropped out of the undefeated ranks, losing 10-14 to Section One, which sparkling Bill Gillis paced to victory.

Showing an all-right defense, coupled with their scoring power, the lucky second place team completely bottled up Joe Doyle and his three-beaten teammates. They were unable to hit from anywhere. Section Seven stepped into a three-way tie with One and Four for second place by stoppage Section Five, 17-12 and Section Eight's happy group pulled a fast one by decisively vanquishing Section Six, 12-13.

Standings	W	L	Pct.	Prs.
Section Seven	3	0	1.000	66
Section One	2	1	.666	55
Section Four	2	1	.666	40
Section Five	1	2	.333	33
Section Eight	1	1	.333	33
Section Six	0	2	.000	32
Section Three	0	3	.000	23

With no opposition that challenge them yet putting in an appearance, Section Two's merry ride toward the title should continue Saturday when they meet Section Four. In charge of the mulewood program, Charles J. Hart, physical ed instructor marked the only club which might top leaders in the tall and, at times, smooth first termers from Section Seven, with Section One already having lost to them.

Section One takes on Five and Section Seven attacks Section Six Saturday and neither should miss. Final game of the day matches Sections Three and Eight in what might be Three's first win of the campaign.

"Next of Kin"

Saturday's game, in which the Cougars triumphed 56-52 over one of the strongest alumni squads seen in years, indicated that Coach Millet may have some surprises in store for the teams that will oppose 14 boys on their eastern trip.

Neil Wellington, acting captain, and Cecil Kap were high men in what turned out to be a scoring spree for both teams. Wellington sank 17 points for the Cougars, while Kap came close with 16. Vaughn Barber, former Granite high school star was outstanding on the backboard.

Picks Squad

Bertha for the eastern jaunt were directed after the game when Coach Millet picked ten men for the trip from his sixteen-man squad.

Itinerary

The first game on the traveling Cougars' schedule will be with Caninus at Buffalo, New York on December 11.

Perhaps the most important game of the series will be played on December 14, when the Yabaketers meet Long Island university in the opening game of the season at Madison Square Garden.

On December 18 the Y hoop quint meets Albion College at Reading, Pennsylvania, and on December 21 meets Omaha university at Omaha, Nebraska.

WAA Tourney Gets Underway

Two fast moving teams touched off the WAA volleyball tournament, Wednesday, December 1, when the "Three O'Clock Jumps" defeated La Sorella team.

Playing for the winning team, were Laurine Mickelson, Zola Murphy, Joyce Hanken, Edna Holt, Jean Morris, Madeline Hatch and Ruth Call. The La Sorella social unit lineup was: Lila Ackisson, Lucille Sandberg, Ladene Taylor, Dorothy Mae Halls, Beth Crook, Lisa Snueler, Joy Hill and Merla Jones.

Scheduled for Wednesday, December 8, will be a playoff with all eight teams going through most of them in their first game. Anyone can come to write.

As a reminder—On December 15, roller skating will be held in the gym for all WAA members at eight o'clock. Thursday night, the sixteenth, will be the Christmas party.

Y Men Receive Commissions

Jarvis Merrill Peterson, 25, of Brigham City, Utah, received his commission as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps on November 17, according to word just received here. He completed his basic training as an officer candidate at the Marine Corps schools in Quantico, Virginia.

At the present time he is enrolled in reserve officers class for advanced training in principles of command and upon completion of this course he will become eligible for combat duty or attend a school for specialists.

Lieutenant Peterson is a graduate of the class of 1943 and has a B. S. degree in accounting and business administration.

grieves them no end. Besides where else can you find a town where there are no official M.P.'s?

Concerning Section 8's next report it has been indicated by equally reliable, although unofficial and a little ignorant sources, that the possibility exists that they will be sent as a unit to Italy and through some master stroke of intentional diplomacy, be attached to Rommel's forces. It is felt that they can raise more havoc with the cause of the Third Reich in that capacity of cooperation than can be combined American Fifth and British Eighth Armies. Just ask former Cadet Major Sally O'Rourke for certification.

Girls, ja ever (as if you didn't) get call from an Allen Hall Kaydet? Well, maybe you don't realize just how much a fellow likes you to call from there. Not only does he spend a nickel, which might go for a coke instead, but he has to fight off hecklers who hound him until he relinquishes the phone. Incidentally your boy friend is just as bad when he is waiting and it is dying to talk to you.

Allen Hall's room 22 carries on. The boys figure that there has always been a cadet officer in it. First there was the late and lamented Wally Friedman who went to Cal for pre-med. Then there was Sally O'Rourke, who went from cadet section sergeant to Cadet Major. Now it's Dick Bricker, who is the cadet supply officer, and Jim Gary, cadet sergeant major. Charlie Bernsheim just sits and scowls - he's backing for cadet corporal.

Albert Theodore (Ted) Tuttle, 24, who graduated from the BYU in June with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in education has graduated from the United States Marine Corps basic officer training school at Quantico, Va., and has been awarded the gold stars of a second lieutenant. He is now taking the advanced training course.

Lieutenant Tuttle took his basic training as a cadet major at Farris Island, S. C., after being called to active duty on August 8.

In addition to majoring in education, Lieutenant Tuttle, a native of Mantu, Utah, also majored in history, economics, and sociology. He was president of the Delta Phi and a member of Blue Key social fraternities.

His wife is the former Marne Whittaker. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Tuttle reside at Mantu, Utah.

U. of W. Student Fills New Post

Cadet 2nd Lieutenant William D. Smith of Seattle, Washington has recently been appointed public relations officer of the ASTU unit stationed at BYU.

Cadet Smith, who will be in charge of all public relations material sent out from the ASTU 359 and will edit the cadet section of the Y NEWS, was a student of journalism at the University of Washington before his induction into the army.

Cadet Smith first broke into print at the tender age of three, when St. Paul newspapers carried the news of his fall from a third story window. Since that time his main interest has been journalism. He was sports editor of the Washington Daily, student publication of the University of Washington. Later he worked on the staff of the Rangelander, camp newspaper at Camp Callan, California, where he spent the first part of his army career.

Southern Lads In Command

The new cadet unit of the ASTU 359, James H. Burton, is an Alabamian from Montgomery and has been in the army for fifteen and one-half months, in which time he reached the grade of sergeant, which he had to relinquish to enter the basic term of ASTU.

He entered the army in August 1942, at Atlanta, Georgia and took his basic training in ordnance at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland. Four months after entering the service he was transferred to the Santa Anita Ordnance depot in California where he became a drill corporal and later a sergeant.

Leaving there after eight months he went to the Pasadena J.C. and Utah University Special Training and Reassignment (STAR) units and then to Provo last fall for the first ASTU term at BYU.

Corporal, Cadet Captain Smith also had to give up his rating to enter ASTU. Another Southerner, Smith is from Barnsville, Georgia. He was inducted in August 1941 and was assigned to the 15th Airborne Division there.

He had attended Gordon Military College in Barnsville prior to induction.

that playing golf and eating have something in common. Of course the girls at the table could be numbered, the events alternating with the odds in three minute intervals. But why let a little thing like elbows in one's ribs become overbearing.

With a blissful evening of study before Sal. One of her roommates has a yearning to sing grand opera, the other is taking Typing 101 and has to catch up on her budgets, and the other has a mania for tap dancing. Sal could go to the study room, but Gerni Cheung Jeanie is usually there, which is the same as trying to concentrate when a cement drill is in operation. At last, the buzz-ringing for study hours. Sal sets up the desk table and there she sits and the four make an attempt at studying. But who ever heard of four roommates studying together in their room? No! No! must tell about the new man she sped on the campus. Mary must get everyone's opinion on what she should do with her Marine now that she decided to accept the army and there are such things to be done as Ray's new creature, what to wear to the next dance, who teachers will roll in eleven or twelve mid-term outcomes. After five weeks of this Sal can study through a wall and finally gets her shambles' topped.

At eleven, Sal decides to finish the other half of her lesson after

New ASTP Cadet Officers Are Appointed for Unit

AST Unit Participates In Review

A formal review of preparedness at Brigham Young university and the city of Provo was presented through the cooperation of the ASTU unit, university officers, and city preparedness units on Tuesday, December 7, at the BYU stadium.

The review which featured the ASTU, White Key service society, the Provo Home Guard, and a crack drill team of ASTU cadets, was prepared through the cooperation of Dr. T. Earl Padove and special services officer M. C. Krauthammer.

Major Powell, President Franklin S. Harris, Don Lloyd, Captain Quake, Professor Nicholas and other school dignitaries.

Forty-eight men, trained and drilled by Cadet Captain Earl T. Smith, gave a rifle exhibition.

The White Key service society, trained by Cadet Major James H. Burton, were led in a drill by WAC Corporal Harrison.

The Provo Home Guard, under Captain Al Wright, company commander, marched past the reviewing stand.

The four companies of ASTU cadets presented their retreat parade.

One of the highlights of the ceremonies was the presentation of Good Conduct ribbons by Major Powell to 38 men.

she gets ready for bed. Having put her four bobby pins in the half of her hair that didn't get curled last night, Sal takes her towels and soap and trudges to the shower room. It is low tide in the shower room tonight. Sal doesn't have to wear her rubber boots to keep the water (which is usually six inches high on the floor) out of her shoes and stockings.

With that refreshed feeling that comes only from taking showers, Sal sets out a morsel of literature concentration, 1.00, 1.30, 2.00 "Oh, I can't tell the difference between a gerund and a participle," she sighs, "I'll get up early in the morning and learn it." Bed at last! Planting her foot firmly on her lower bunkmate, Sal lifts herself into her bunk and so ends another day for Knight Hall Sal.
